

My Journey Begins!!
By Heather Joanne Nash
(Written June 15, 2010)

I've awoken from a dark sleep, with the curiosity of a child, sounds of life is music to my ears. There's a sign on my heart that reads "no vacancy". A note says, "love lives here". Fear has been evicted. The door to my spirit has been unlocked. God holds the key! "My Journey Begins!!" My thoughts play "no judgments", "love one another". Pain is not permanent, the child within now laughs and plays.

Life is up for grabs, let the clocks worry about time, I'm newly renovated, I am God's Creation. I soar with the eagles, my soul is warm like sunshine, my glass is full! Beauty is all around, I'm living now, I'm starting to shine. I am a work of art, more precious and valuable with age and time. I was lost but now set free, a little one bouncing on my saviour's knee. Jesus, your arms are my safe place! I am hungry for the Lord; I have an appetite for positive and good.

Butterflies in my tummy now, a skip in my step: My dimples are dancing, my new name - "Hope!" The rain is now laughter, and the clouds are smiling down, angels surround me, my cares are cool in the breeze. I am an eager student, and God's beautiful creations, our world, my teacher!